

Pubmed

What is Pubmed?

PubMed provides free access to MEDLINE, a database of over 28 million citations covering the fields of medicine, dentistry, nursing and allied health.

How do I access Pubmed?

To access Pubmed go to:

<https://pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/>

You can use the database straight away or create an account, which will allow you to save searches and collections.

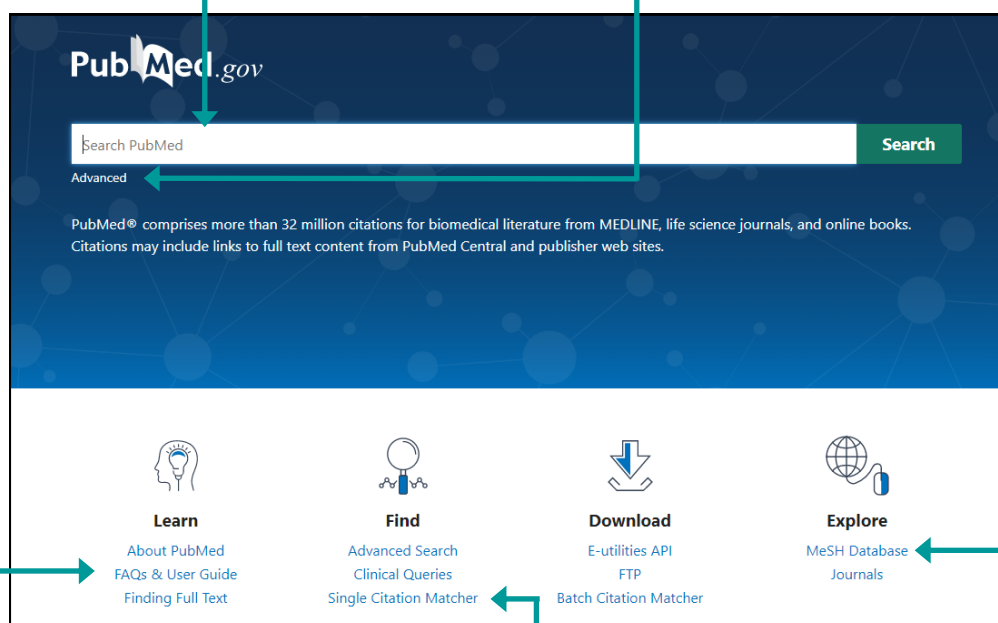

Using Pubmed

Basic Search - Quick but not always effective

Use this option for simple keyword searching. This is quick but a search may retrieve thousands of results.

Advanced Search - Most effective method

Use this option to undertake a more thorough search and to combine different search terms together using Boolean operators AND & OR.

See the User Guide and FAQs for help using the system.

Find a specific journal article using the Single Citation Matcher.

Find appropriate medical subject headings using the MeSH Database.

Basic search

To do a basic search, place your keyword(s) in the search box and click Search.

A search bar with the text "infection control gloves" and a "Search" button. Below the search bar, the word "Advanced" is visible.

A results page will appear

Number of articles found.

Sort results to view them in different ways and change the format to show abstracts.

List of articles showing the title, authors and journal information. Click on the title of an article to see the full details.

Advanced search

To do an advanced search, click on the Advanced link under the search box.

Pubmed Advanced Search Builder will open

The advanced search option allows you to undertake a more comprehensive search. The most effective way to search PubMed is to search for each concept within your question separately, and then combine them together with the Boolean operators AND and OR.

For help and guidance on planning a literature search and developing a full search strategy, please contact us on library@lthtr.nhs.uk

Select which field(s) you would like to search in e.g. title, abstract, all fields.

Enter your search terms into the box provided.

Use the Boolean operators in the drop down box to combine parts of your search together.

As you enter your terms and begin searching, a search history will appear

Search	Actions	Details	Query	Results	Time
#3	...	>	Search: #1 AND #2 Sort by: Publication Date	2,272	07:23:45
#2	...	>	Search: fatigue [Title] Sort by: Publication Date	28,259	07:23:25
#1	...	>	Search: (cancer [Title]) OR (oncology [Title]) Sort by: Publication Date	1,087,539	07:23:13

The search history shows the number of results returned from each stage of your search. Click on the link to view the articles.
