

Apprenticeship Case Study

Meet Ellenor Stavert...

Back in October 2016, one of Lancashire Teaching Hospitals apprentices, Ellenor Stavert, won the North West Higher Apprentice of the Year Award at the annual regional National Apprenticeships Service Awards ceremony. Originally employed with the Trust as a Finance apprentice, she flourished within the role, demonstrating a flair for numbers within the Accounting team, quickly progressing onto the Advanced Level apprenticeship. As a result, she became employed as a Senior Assistant Financial Advisor: a wonderful achievement that demonstrates all the hard work she has put in over the years.

Better yet, Ellie's prize at the regional Apprenticeship Awards recognises the significant contribution and progression she's made within the Trust's Finance and Procurement Directorate. We now hope that Ellie's story will inspire all our many other Trust apprentices to realise what superb triumphs are achievable with hard work and dedication.

Of her win, Ellie said: 'I am so honoured to have won this award. My apprenticeship gave me the perfect grounding, giving me all the skills I needed to progress through my department. I chose the apprenticeship route once I finished my A-levels as I wanted to start working and gaining valuable experience within my field whilst at the same time achieving a professional qualification; and I have never looked back. I am now studying towards becoming a chartered accountant, and hope to be fully qualified within the next two years.'

Our Assistant Finance Director and Ellie's manager, Lucy Billington, said 'We are extremely proud of Ellie and the journey she has undertaken here with us'. All of us here at the Trust are extremely proud of Ellenor, and wish her the best of luck with her future studies!
